The Arlephone.

The Arlephone is a new departure in the line of accordions, being a combination of reed and metallic tones. It may be played as an accordion, or as a chime of bells, and in either case it will produce characteristically musical effects. The performer, by manipulating the proper stop, may also combine the two tones (reed and metallic), and thus produce a rich, harmonious effect.

No. 19202—(B) Broad mahogany frames, mahogany panels, ebonized keys gilt and nickel ornaments, nickel corners and clasps, double bellows, with chimes attachment, 10 keys, 8 stops, 2 sets of reeds. $8 50

Mullin in Parvo.

Accordions possessing the required variety of tone in the bass have, heretofore, been too large and unwieldy to meet with public favor. The new Imperial Accordion obviates this defect by having an improved bass box with six basses (four major two minor). Being much smaller than the old styles, they are more easily handled. The last feature is one long desired by accordion artists. Consists of the quality and volume of tone in these instruments, they are simply unparalleled.

AMERICAN GUITARS.

No. 20006—A thoroughly satisfactory low-priced instrument. We guarantee it in every respect. This beautifully modeled guitar is made of quartered sycamore, the stock being selected from handsomely figured wood. The instrument is most attractive in appearance. It is finished in natural color, and is neatly inlaid around sound-hole. The neck is imitation mahogany, nicely finished, with patent machine head. We present the "Marquette" as the best guitar for anything like the price that has ever been offered. The tone is remarkably good for such a low priced instrument, and the general appearance is such as to command for it immediate recognition. ■■■ $7 35

No. 20007—This guitar is made in oak, which is a reliable wood, and the finish is extremely popular. The scale is perfect, the neck delicately proportioned, the patent head of American make, and strings used of the very best quality. No. 20015—This new instrument is one of our greatest successes, many thousands having already been sold. We desire to have it thoroughly examined by musicians not already familiar with it, believing that in presenting this grade of guitar we are meeting a want that has been for many years apparent—that of a thoroughly reliable American made instrument, at a moderate price. It is solid mahogany, beautifully finished. It will not crack, warp or shrink, the utmost care being taken to use only the most select and well-seasoned woods. The scale is perfect, being the same as that used on the famous Washburn guitars, and upon its absolute correctness we are prepared to stake our reputation. "African," solid mahogany back and sides, Brazilian cedar neck, oval rosewood finger-board, and rosewood bridge, patent machine head, colored wood inlayings around sound-hole. PIANOS AND ORGANS.

We are pleased to present to our members a piano that will please them, and would call their attention to some of its points of excellence.

The quality of tone is the essential feature of a piano, and we aim to produce a tone to gratify the musical ear, in combining the elements of purity, sweetness, depth, brilliancy, power and evenness of scale, with an elastic action, of easy touch and prompt response. Eminent artists, experts and musical critics are, unsolicited, complimenting the fine quality of tone our pianos possess. Each of the successive coats of varnish requires time and uniform temperature in which to dry and harden, to be durable and protect the well-seasoned frame or case from atmospheric changes. This department receives our personal and most careful surveillance. Piano making requires special machinery, by which is secured uniformity of every component part. Our manufacturer is equipped in each department with every appurtenance requisite for economy and the highest grade of piano construction. The wrest plank, or pin block, is built up by veneering several thicknesses of $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch maple, running at right angles or crossways, to prevent splitting, checking or warping, then bedded on a heavy foundation—maple plank. This gives the tuning pins a uniform bearing and a firm setting. To this wrest plank is strongly bolted the full iron plate, the effect of which is to produce a firm, sustaining tone and power of standing in tune. The upright style of piano has become the people's favorite, because they economize in room, are more easily handled, susceptible of a higher grade of ornamentation, symmetrical in form, compact and graceful in shape, hence we confine our entire list to the upright style, and in them unite all factors requisite for the highest standard of music in the most appropriate and artistic designs of cases, to insure which our manufacturers find it not only necessary, but also economy, to use the finest materials they can buy, and employ a class of workmen experienced and skilled in piano manufacture, so that we are not reluctant in asserting that the National Piano is an instrument of sterling merit and intrinsic value. We have tried to be brief, yet have omitted much that interests both our members and us, but in conclusion will add that our policy will be progressive, introducing any improvements that experience and inventive genius may deem desirable, and our purpose is to continue growing in the confidence and esteem of our members, by maintaining a system of honorable and prompt business intercourse, making, so far as possible, their interest with ours of a mutual and reciprocal character.

THE STANDARD ATLAS OF THE WORLD.

It contains the latest census and the most accurate delineation of the earth's surface that has ever been given in a low-priced work within reach of everybody. Its geographical data are based upon the most recent surveys of all civilized countries and the reports of scientific expeditions and explorers.

The Maps are of large scale, compiled from the most recent and authentic sources, and are beautifully tinted, thus rendering them clear and distinct and free from that drabby appearance so frequently seen in atlas publications.

SIZE OF ATLAS. Closed, 11x14 inches. Opened, 22x14 inches.

This Atlas is beautifully illustrated with colored diagrams showing weather, soil, civil condition of people, chief productions, manufactures and commerce, religious sects, etc., and a succession of engravings of much historical interest and value together with many new and desirable features designed expressly for this work, many which will be of value to every student of the Union. It is substantially bound in one large volume of one hundred and twenty-two pages, elegantly illustrated, and the cover is ornamented with gold side-stamp appropriately and handsomely designed.
